Singapore, 29 March 2019 – One Faber Group marks the 45th anniversary of the Singapore Cable Car with the 30 March debut of 'Miraculous', an original multimedia night show on the heart-shaped tree at hilltop restaurant Arbora at Faber Peak Singapore. Besides this visual treat, guests can look forward to a year-long line-up of exciting activities, events, promotions & F&B creations at Singapore's only hilltop destination from 30 March 2019 till April 2020.

The Singapore Cable Car connects Mount Faber to Sentosa Island and offers guests seamless access to a collection of unique leisure activities from the hilltop to the island. An iconic attraction that has played a significant role in the Singaporean tourism landscape for 45 years, the Singapore Cable Car had captured the hearts and minds of locals and tourists with its breath-taking scenic views of Sentosa Island, Mount Faber and the Harbourfront. Since starting operations in 1974, close to 57 million riders have taken the Singapore Cable Car. Today, guests sit in the comfort of the spacious 4th generation cable car cabins, which are encased with floor-to-ceiling glass panels that offer even greater viewing pleasure of the ever-changing views of Southern Singapore.

"With the Singapore Cable Car as our focus for the 45th anniversary campaign, guests can look forward to fun and exciting activities that revolve around this attraction to create lasting memories for tourists and to bring back happy memories for the locals. Indulge in different flavours of satay, traditional peanut sauces and ketupat served under the stars, as you chill out with family and friends over drinks and entertainment from a live band. MAO SHAN WANG DURIAN FEAST @ MOUNT FABER

Also “貓山王” in Chinese, “山” refers to “hills”, which served as an inspiration for this event - bringing Mao Shan Wang to the Mount Faber hill. Durian is a beloved fruit among locals and fans would rave and crave for the king of durians - the Mao Shan Wang. Unlike durian feasts found in the city and heartlands, participants would certainly delight at the refreshing change of scene at Faber Deck, which features scenic views of the Harbourfront. Here, guests get to savour a variety of durian breeds amid a rustic setup – where durian stalls, tables and chairs take on an old school vibe – as they are serenaded by chirping birds and rustling leaves from the surrounding lush greenery.

ANNEX D | LOOKING BACK AT 45 YEARS OF THE SINGAPORE CABLE CAR OVER 4 GENERATIONS

The Singapore Cable Car (SCC) has played host to close to 57 million Singaporeans and foreign visitors since its inception. The iconic attraction transports visitors from the hustle and bustle of the city into a world of lush greenery and unique hilltop entertainment on Mount Faber, as well as to Sentosa – Singapore's premier island resort.

1ST GENERATION: 1974 – 1994

The SCC was the brainchild of the late Dr Goh Keng Swee in 1970, then Minister of Finance, who wanted to improve the accessibility of the summit and the island. It was a hit amongst the locals when it first opened its doors in 1974, with Singaporeans accounting for three-quarters of the riders by its first year of inception.

The SCC rocketed to international fame through the 1970s and early 1980s, with the cable cars having their big break in 1979 as they appeared on a popular detective drama, Hawaii Five-O.

2ND GENERATION: 1994 – 1999

Snaking queues made up of locals and tourists were a frequent sight at the cable car stations. To raise its passenger capacity, the second generation of cabins were launched in 1994 to replace the old ones that had serviced passengers for more than two decades.

In addition to the quicker and steadier rides, audio commentaries about landmarks that were visible from the cabins were also rolled out in six languages. The second generation of cable cars also hosted diners for the first time with the introduction of Sky Dining, launched in time for Valentine's Day.

3RD GENERATION: 1999 – 2009

To commemorate SCC's 25th anniversary, six numbers of limited edition third-generation cabins were launched in 1999. It made history as the world's first glass-bottom cable cars that offers unobstructed views of the harbour and seascape south of Singapore.

In 2004, the SCC organised the first endurance contest as part of its 30th anniversary celebrations, where 66 participants stuck in out in the cabins for a week - with only ten minutes to visit the toilet every 24 hours!

4TH GENERATION: 2009 – TODAY

In 2009, the cable car system was revamped for the fourth time to rejuvenate the cable car experience. The fleet now comprises 67 LED-illuminated, sparkling metallic black and chrome cabins on a mono-cable ropeway that links Mount Faber to Harbourfront Towers and Sentosa Island.

The cabins feature added levels of comfort with windows that offer ultraviolet protection against tropical heat and humidity, with minimal obstruction to the all-round views.

This generation of cable cars also boasts the world's first 7-Star Jewelled Cabin, which is decked with Swarovski crystals in its interior panels and the only one with glass bottom cabin, to deliver a touch of luxury to wow and impress passengers.

On 14 July 2015, the Singapore Cable Car Sky Network was launched with the opening of the Sentosa Line. This 890m link connects visitors to three main attraction clusters at Merlion Plaza, Imbiah Lookout and Siloso Point.
